Wishing you & your family a

Back of Postcard

We have had another eventful year. We didn't do as much hiking and traveling this year because the children had a much shorter summer due to almost 3 weeks of missed school from snow. Gotta love the mountains! Ivy had a big year and made straight A's in 5th grade and got to write and say the commencement prayer at graduation. She's now in Middle School and loves it. Bradford (BW) is doing well and has started basketball. Diabetes seems to be better on the pump. I am still with the same employer and doing it all. David and I are still together and happy. Timothy is in preschool and Tae Kwon Do. Ninja passed away after 20 years with me. It was heartbreaking, but we saved a life and adopted an all black female from the local pound, Samantha. Mom, dad and gram are all excited because Holly is pregnant. I am going to be an Aunt! She's due in March and it will be a boy! The pictures were taken on our vacation to the Renaissance Fair in Charlotte. We had a splendid time! Please feel free to visit our website anytime and check out all of our other pictures at <http://www.tech-gal.com> or <http://bship.com/2010Pix/2010Pix.htm>. We hope that you and your families have a Blessed Holiday season!
